

Computer Audit Manager

Edinburgh

To £50k + FS Benefits

Our client is one of the UK's leading financial services groups, with an enviable reputation for success, change and innovation. Integral to its development and succession strategies, is the appointment of a high-calibre computer audit specialist within its Group internal audit and review function.

Working closely with local management teams, you will play a key role in the ongoing development and management of a wide-ranging audit and review function designed to provide control and risk assurance to the Board of Directors, using best practice. As well as planning and executing complex and specialised technology audit mandates, this will involve adopting a risk-based internal consultancy approach in visibly promoting cost effective controls and information systems. It will also entail pro-actively contributing to the cost-effective deployment of audit resources and helping to shape the function to ensure that it is at the leading edge of industry development. In addition, you will participate in special projects and investigations relating to major business initiatives amongst other matters, interfacing as required with advisors and colleagues at all levels.

Possibly a graduate in an IS related subject, you are likely to be a CA or internal audit professional possessing at least 5 years' IS auditing experience, which should ideally include some exposure to the financial services industry. Specific expertise in IS Security Governance, IS Risk Management, Corporate Governance and Financial Management will also be highly advantageous. In addition, you should possess strong people development, thought leadership and influencing skills combined with the personal attributes of confidence, maturity and highly developed interpersonal and presentational skills to enhance your impact in this key role.
