

Head of Tax

Edinburgh or Glasgow

£Excellent

Our client is one of Scotland's leading independent law firms with offices in Edinburgh and Glasgow. An impressive record of sustained growth and achievement is matched by ambitious plans for further expansion.

Integral to this strategy is building on the existing tax expertise within the firm by establishing a dedicated Business Tax Practice led by the newly created position of Head of Tax. With the initial primary focus of supporting the existing tax capability within the property, property finance and corporate departments, the successful applicant will be expected to build their own department to supply the firm's business tax advice. Reporting to the Executive Board and supported by the Heads of the respective departments, the appointee will contribute both strategically and operationally in achieving these objectives.

You will be a proactive, commercially aware and quality-driven tax accountant or tax lawyer with significant property tax experience, including SDLT. A CA qualification is desirable but not essential. A strong leader and team player, you will possess outstanding analytical, organisational and influencing skills together with the drive and versatility to succeed in a demanding, fast-moving environment.

This key role offers superb prospects in a forward-thinking, progressive business during an exciting period of growth. With the potential to evolve into a broader role over time, this opportunity also provides excellent scope for long-term career development.

·FLETCHER·JONES·
search and selection

Applications, together with a CV and current remuneration details, should be forwarded quoting reference LSG/25.5.06 to Laura McNaught at Fletcher Jones Ltd, 12 Castle Terrace, Edinburgh EH1 2DP. Tel: 0131 229 7151.

Email apply@fletcher-jones.co.uk Alternatively, for an initial informal discussion in confidence, please contact Laura McNaught on the above telephone number.